

About OUM & IPD

Open University Malaysia (OUM) is the product of a strategic alliance between Malaysia's first of eleven Public Universities.

Whilst OUM's recognised programmes of high academic standing remain comparable to that of every consortium partner, the Vice-Chancellors of the participating universities embarked on a strategic move that has opened a window of opportunity for career minded working adults.

This window of opportunity is designed to provide them with an avenue to enhance their competencies and add value to their careers; and to operate effectively and efficiently in a highly competitive environment.

The intent therefore spawned the formation of a professional training unit within OUM. Dubbed the Institute of Professional Development (IPD), the Institute is dedicated to lifelong learning for every working adult by providing competency development programmes that are innovative, contemporary and relevant.

Officially founded at the end of 2000, IPD-OUM's programmes continue to benefit career minded working adults in Malaysia as well as selected international locations such as Bahrain, Sudan, India and Sri Lanka.

Some of many dynamic organisations that have benefited from IPD-OUM's career enhancement programmes include Nestle, AEON Group, Toyota Boshoku, Dumex, Malaysian Financial Planning Council, Samsung, Mydin, NIOSH, Panasonic Malaysia and others.
